Privacy concerns with Facebook These stem partly from the company's revenue model that involves selling information collected about its users for many things including advertisement targeting. In addition, employers and other organizations/individuals have been known to use Meta for their own purposes. In 2016, Facebook stated "Facebook does not use your phone's microphone to inform ads or to change what you see in News Feed. Meta has also been a part of many data breaches that have occurred within the company." a spokeswoman said Facebook and other services by Meta Platforms (doing business as Meta) have faced a number of privacy concerns. In response to these growing privacy concerns, some pressure groups and government agencies have increasingly asserted the users' right to privacy and to be able to control their personal data. As a result, individuals' identities and private information have sometimes been compromised without their permission. past. These issues and others are further described including user data concerns, vulnerabilities in the company's platform, investigations by pressure groups and government agencies, and even issues with students aeb62d96d4 initialism = an abbreviation pronounced wholly or partly using the names of its constituent letters, e.g., CD = compact disc, pronounced cee dee aeb62d96d4 Following is a similar concept on other social network services, such as Twitter and Instagram, where a person (follower) chooses to add content from a person or page to their newsfeed. Unlike friending, following is not necessarily mutual, and a person can unfollow (stop following) or block another user at any time without affecting that user's following status. aeb62d96d4 In June 2015, Oculus VR co-founder Palmer Luckey revealed that Oculus was already working on a successor to the original Rift and planned to release it in around 2–3 years from the original Rift release. The headset would feature higher resolution screens and inside-out tracking, and would enable room scale experiences. aeb62d96d4 The Rift S received mixed reviews, with critics praising improvements in comfort and ease of setup due to the halo strap and new tracking system, but characterizing the Rift S as being only an incremental upgrade over the CV1, and noting regressions such as a lower refresh rate, and the lack of hardware adjustment for inter pupillary distance (IPD). The Rift S was discontinued in April 2021. aeb62d96d4 Production began when
