

3rd Party Logistics Industry

Military logistics is concerned with maintaining army supply lines with food, armaments, ammunition, and spare parts, apart from the transportation of troops themselves. Civil logistics deals with acquiring, moving, and storing raw materials, semi-finished goods, and finished goods. For organisations that provide garbage collection, mail deliveries, public utilities, and after-sales services, logistical problems must be addressed.

In executing the issue, three months later the Ministry of Defence and the Military Commission of the Central Committee approved the plan of organising regular army corps for the Vietnam People's Army. On 26 March 1975, General Võ Nguyên Giáp, Minister of Defence, signed the edict that led to the establishment of the 3rd Corps in Tây Nguyên, from which came the name Tây Nguyên Corps of the unit. The first headquarters of the corps consisted of party committee secretary (bí thư) Đặng Vũ Hiệp and commander (tư lệnh) Vũ Lăng. 5a7beb2601 The General Department of Defence Industry traces its roots to September 15, 1945, when President Hồ Chí Minh signed a decree to establish the Department of Military Ordnance under the Ministry of Defence. The department, led by Nguyễn Ngọc Xuân, was responsible for collecting, purchasing, and organizing facilities for the production of military weapons and equipment. Its structure included divisions for research, procurement, weapon design, and administration. 5a7beb2601 == History == 5a7beb2601

Modernization of the People's Liberation Army Deng reestablished civilian control over the military by appointing his supporters to key military leadership positions, by reducing the scope of the PLA's domestic non-military role, and by revitalizing the party political structure and ideological control system within the PLA. China's entrance into the international arms market in the 1980s was closely related to reforms in the defense industry and the leadership's The military modernization program of the People's Liberation Army (PLA) which began in the late 1970s had three major focuses. First, under the political leadership of 3rd paramount leader Deng Xiaoping, the military became disengaged from civilian politics and, for the most part, resumed the political quiescence that characterized its pre-Cultural Revolution role. command and logistics 5a7beb2601
