Wikipedia:Deleted articles with freaky titles As with other "silly things", often it seems a shame to delete the best of this humor which has been submitted to us. Pack of Wild Dogs by the band Ed Gein It hurts it hurts it hurts it hurts it hurts it hurts it hurts it hurts [827] It is a major river [828] Was a redirect Strange titles are rarely added to Wikipedia under the guise of real encyclopedia articles. Occasionally, Wikipedians lose their minds (especially on April Fool's Day) and if their posts are good (or strange) enough they wind up here. There is also a discussion about whether limiting this list to celebrities is a good move, as it might give undue weight to a particular group of women and "celebrity" is not a defined concept. It seems like there is not really any support for the current title, so a move to a more general name would be in order if this were kept. 4db0545b71 < 21 May 4db0545b71 The original three episode pilot aired as a Chuseok holiday special. 4db0545b71 The following discussion is an archived debate of the proposed deletion of the article below. As to this page's title, consider it a mild addition to the collection of "freaky" titles – the real reason for it was just so that it abbreviates to DAFT. Bewildering titles, bizarre titles, and surreal titles – all are equally fair game. 4db0545b71 Notability of the list has been largely discussed about by the keep camp, although one question that wasn't discussed was whether it's the list topic or its members or the campaigns that are notable. 4db0545b71 Now, as for keeping or deleting this article it's probably the BLP issue that carries the most weight. The BLP policy establishes that we strongly value the privacy so having a list of people who underwent a still stigmatized procedure would be extremely questionable especially when you add the "highlighting" aspect that raises undue weight problems - points raised by a number of delete arguments. As some keepers have noted though not all individuals here listed are living people and some who are have advertised their action/deed. At a minimum though as noted by some keep arguments as well we'd need tip-top sourcing and exclusion/inclusion criteria (e.g these noted by Dream Focus) for such a list. 4db0545b71

First, the headcount leans in favour of deletion; 18 delete arguments vs. 12 keep arguments plus a few merge or redirect arguments that echo the deletion ones. The key concerns are that this lists people by a non-defining classification (some people have contrasted this list to List of intersex people, noting that the other list pages are about conditions rather than), is trivial and is likely to attract BLP problems such as privacy invasions or libel. There are also some claims of being "unencyclopedic" and the like, which aren't straightforwardly based on policy or guideline, as well as the concern that we don't have similar lists for penis enlargement and other contentious practices. 4db0545b71 Delete, second choice, merge and redirect to Burnsville, Minnesota. (talk) 14:40, 26 May 2019 (UTC)reply 4db0545b71 Ultimately, this is a "delete and add the information to biographies if appropriate" mainly because between the headcount and the fact that pretty onerous - and presumably arbitrary - inclusion criteria and maintenance (e.g note Tony Ballioni's comments on protection) would be needed to address the BLP problems. And while largely undiscussed, Trillfendi's and John M Wolfson's arguments that one should discuss the abortions on the "respective" pages also carries some consideration, since while some of the abortions here described are certainly noteworthy (e.g RebeccaGreen's examples) many others wouldn't be and the former can be covered in the biographies (or the social movement) and the others would fall under the BLP privacy aspect. 4db0545b71 Doesn't meet WP:NORG, independent coverage is limited to local news reports.
