== Main == 473b50a2e4 In Mallorca and Ibiza, a sweet called greixonera is made with ensaïmada pieces left over from the day before. 473b50a2e4 == Keroro Platoon == 473b50a2e4 == Variants == 473b50a2e4 The ensaïmada de Mallorca is made with strong flour, water, sugar, eggs, mother dough and a kind of reduced pork lard (called saïm in Catalan) which gives the bread its name. The handmade character of the product makes it difficult to give an exact formula, so scales have been established defining the proportion of each ingredient. 473b50a2e4 The shape of a bolus differs between bakers. In some parts of the region, the dough also includes lemon zest, though this is rarer. They are often eaten with coffee, and the flatter underside is frequently covered with butter. 473b50a2e4 Like the pourpoint, its ancestor, the doublet was used by soldiers in the 15th and 16th centuries to facilitate the wearing of the brigandine, breastplate, cuirass, and plackart, which had to cut into the waist in order to shift their weights from the shoulders to the hips. However, it differs from the pourpoint by being shut with lacing instead of being closed with buttons and having a different shape and cut.

Instead of a raising agent, choux pastry employs its high moisture content to create steam as the water in the dough evaporates when baked, puffing the pastry. The pastry is used in many European cuisines, including French and Spanish, and can be used to make many goods such as eclairs, Paris-Brest, cream puffs, profiteroles, crullers, beignets, churros and funnel cakes. All around the Mediterranean there are similar typical dishes. They perform using their equipment (flag, rifle, sabre, prop, etc.) and emotional connections (facial expressions and dance and sometimes voice) to the audience to enhance the meaning and feeling of their show.

The bread apparently has a Jewish origin, deriving from bulemas, using lard instead of olive oil as a means of escaping the suspicions of authorities during the Inquisition. The first written references to the Mallorcan ensaïmada date back to the 17th century. Though wheat flour was mainly used for making bread, there is evidence this typical bread product was made during that period for festivals and celebrations. 473b50a2e4

Italian: giubbetta) is a kind of snug-fitting jacket that is shaped and fitted to a man's body. Women started wearing doublets in the 16th century. Until the end of the 15th century, the doublet was most often worn under another layer of clothing such as a gown, mantle, or houppelande when in public. The doublet could be thigh length, hip length or waist length depending on the period, and worn over the shirt with matching or contrasting "hose", the term for the tight leggings and later breeches-like lower garment which were attached by lacing to the doublet with "points", the cord or ribbon laces 473b50a2e4

The bolus was introduced to Zeeland in the late 16th and early 17th centuries by Sephardic Jewish bakers fleeing religious persecution in Portugal and Spain. These refugees settled in the Dutch Republic, with a notable community establishing itself in Middelburg. The Jewish cemetery in Middelburg (located on the Jodengang) attests to this Portuguese-Jewish presence.
