Each episode centered around unusual, provocative, or humorous questions, such as “Does a dachshund recognize its brother?” or “What is the best way to prepare human flesh for consumption?”. These questions were explored through interviews, filmed experiments, and discussions with an expert panel nicknamed the "Super-Femman". The panel traditionally included five specialists: a political scientist, a psychologist, a historian, a physician, and a physicist. The show also featured a recurring light-hearted science segment called "Veckans macka" ("Sandwich of the Week").

The Hedgehog (voiced by Maria Vinogradova) goes to visit his friend the Bear Cub to drink tea with raspberry jam and count the stars. The road along which the Hedgehog moves passes through deserted fields and forest thickets. The Hedgehog spots an impressive white horse in the evening fog and approaches. Within the fog, the world is mysterious and outlandish images appear before the Hedgehog. Among them is an eagle-owl looking into a well, a snail suddenly turning into an elephant and a bat with a frightening wingspan. The Hedgehog realises he has lost his jam and panics, until it is returned by a dog.

The test was announced because the Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (commonly referred to by its acronym TAKS) assessment was repealed by Texas Senate Bill 1031 in spring 2007. The bill called for secondary schools (for grades 9-11) to take end-of-course assessments every time a student was at the end of taking a course, instead of taking general "core subject" tests. STAAR replaced the TAKS in the spring of 2012, although students who entered 10th grade before the 2011–2012 school year continued to take the TAKS. This process is part of the TAKS to STAAR transition plan. In 2015 the last students had taken the TAKS test, so the first students will graduate with a completed STAAR end of course assessments. However, many policies from... 43cb47c276
