

Concord Repatriation General Hospital

Prior to the Second World War, the 16-hectare (40-acre) Yaralla Estate on which the hospital is built belonged to philanthropist Thomas Walker and subsequently his daughter Dame Eadith Walker. A small hospital had already been established on the site, known as the Thomas Walker Convalescent Hospital. Following the death of Dame Eadith in 1937, the property was bequeathed to the Crown for development as a public hospital. a4f6e1e24c Repatriation General Hospital, Hobart (1921–1992), became part of Royal Hobart Hospital in 1992 a4f6e1e24c The current hospital was commissioned in 1939 as a general hospital for the Australian Army and opened on 11 March 1941.
