The name and the original fruit is indigenous to Croatia (Croatian: višnja maraske), originally a luxury delicacy of the Dalmatian Coast, specifically Zadar, these cherries were dark, sour, and pitted before being steeped in a spirit distilled from the fruit’s own pits, skins, and leaves. In their modern form, the cherries are first preserved in a brine solution usually containing sulfur dioxide and calcium chloride to bleach the fruit, then soaked in a suspension of food coloring (common red food dye is Allura Red AC), sugar syrup, and other components. modern American maraschino cherries typically use FD&C Red 40 as a colorant

Maraschino Cherry (Gloria Leonard), the owner of a high-class escort service in New York City, teaches her younger sister, Penny Cherry (Jenny Baxter), about the business. The two sisters reflect on a series of erotic episodes related to the service and its clients, replete with humorous puns and innuendos.
