Purple urine bag syndrome This converts indoxyl sulfate in the urine into the red and blue colored compounds indirubin and indigo. The purple discoloration is the result of reaction between indirubin and plastic urine bags, as well as the presence of indigo. People with urinary tract infections using catheters will increase the conversion of indoxyl sulfatase to indirubin and indigo. Bacteria in urine produce the enzyme indoxyl sulfatase. Purple urine bag syndrome can be a side effect of having a urinary tract infection while using a catheter for a long period of time Purple urine bag syndrome (PUBS) is a medical syndrome where purple discoloration of urine collection bag occurs in people with urinary catheters and co-existent urinary tract infections. PUBS is most prevalent in elderly females with constipation. Constipation alters the gut bacteria, reducing gastrointestinal motility and leading to increased growth of bacteria in the colon. of developing UTIs. High bacterial counts in urine are the most important factor causing purple urine bag syndrome. Indirubin dissolves in plastic and therefore causes urine discoloration
