Various sex positions can be used during vaginal sex, and sometimes additional lubrication is desirable. Following penile insertion, additional stimulation is often achieved, by either partner, through rhythmic pelvic thrusting, or a gyration of the hips, among other techniques. The biological imperative is to achieve male ejaculation so that sperm can enter the female reproductive tract and fertilize the egg, thereafter beginning the next stage in human reproduction – pregnancy.

d152bcdfaf In 1751, Thistlewood started working as an overseer on a sugar plantation called "Egypt"; within days, he started to rape the enslaved women on the plantation. According to his diary, over the course of his life he committed thousands of acts of rape on 138 enslaved women. He systematically raped enslaved girls and women; those that ran away were whipped and put in chains, collars, or placed in field gangs. He sometimes raped more than one woman in a night, after which he would give them some coins "for their troubles". d152bcdfaf black teenagers from the train, but were unsuccessful. The humiliated white teenagers jumped or were forced off the train and reported to a nearby train master that they had been attacked by a group of black teenage boys. Shortly thereafter, the police stopped and searched the train at Paint Rock, Alabama and arrested the black teenage boys. Two young white females were also taken to the jail, where they accused the African American teenage boys of rape. d152bcdfaf

Breasts, and especially nipples, are highly erogenous zones, for both men and women. Nipple and breast stimulation of women are a near-universal aspect of human sexuality, though men's nipples are not as sexualized. Humans are the only primates whose female members have permanently enlarged breasts after the onset of puberty; the breasts of other primate species are enlarged only during pregnancy and nursing. One hypothesis postulates that the breasts grew as a frontal counterpart to the buttocks as primates became upright in order to attract mates, a model first developed in 1967. Other hypotheses include that by chance breasts act as a cushion for infant heads, are a signal of fertility, or elevate the infant's head in breastfeeding... d152bcdfaf

Syphilis The primary stage classically presents with a single chancre (a firm, painless, non-itchy skin ulceration usually between 1 cm and 2 cm in diameter), though there may be multiple sores. In tertiary syphilis, there are gummas (soft, non-cancerous growths), neurological problems, or heart symptoms. Syphilis has been known as "the great imitator", because it may cause symptoms similar to many other diseases. The signs and symptoms depend on the stage it presents: primary, secondary, latent or tertiary. Latent syphilis has no symptoms and can last years.

Menopause Women often notice symptoms of hormonal changes prior. Spotting or bleeding may simply be related to vaginal atrophy, a benign sore (polyp or lesion), or may be a functional endometrial response. Menopause before the age of 45 years is considered to be "early menopause", and ovarian failure or surgical removal of the ovaries before the age of 40 years is termed "premature ovarian insufficiency". At the physiological level, menopause happens because of a decrease in the ovaries' production of the hormones estrogen and progesterone. Natural menopause is the result of a decrease in the production of the hormones estrogen and progesterone. The European Menopause is the time when menstrual periods permanently stop, marking the end of the reproductive stage for the female human. Additionally a decrease in hormone levels can have other sources, including some types of chemotherapy. Surgical menopause occurs as the result of a surgery that removes both ovaries. Smoking cigarettes may result in an earlier menopause while having been pregnant may result in a later menopause. Natural menopause typically occurs between the ages of 45 and 55, although the exact timing can vary, occurring earlier or later for a variety of reasons.
