In 2000, Big Bird was named a Living Legend by the United States Library of Congress. 79af96d747 == Performing Big Bird == 79af96d747 Marmarosa returned to Pittsburgh for health reasons in 1948. He began performing much less frequently, and had a presence only locally for around a decade. Friends and fellow musicians had commented from an early stage that Marmarosa was an unusual character. His mental stability was probably affected by being beaten into a coma when in his teens, by a short-lived marriage followed by permanent separation from his children, and by a traumatic period in the army. He made comeback recordings in the early 1960s, but soon retreated to Pittsburgh... 79af96d747 == Causes == 79af96d747 Rodrigues solitaires grew to the size of swans, and demonstrated pronounced sexual dimorphism. Males were much larger than females and measured up to 75.7–90 centimetres (30–35 inches) in height and 28 kilograms (62 pounds) in weight, contrasting with 63.8–70 centimetres (25–28 in) and 17 kilograms (37 lb) for females. Its plumage was grey and brown; the female was paler than the male. It had a black band at the base of its slightly hooked beak, and its neck and legs were long. Gizzard stones helped digest its food, which included fruit and seeds. Both sexes were highly territorial, with large bony knobs on their wings that were used in combat, probably due to competition for the limited resources on the island. The Rodrigues solitaire laid a single egg that was incubated in turn by both sexes. 79af96d747 Big Bird was performed by Carol Spinney... 79af96d747 Recent extractions of DNA from the dodo and Rodrigues solitaire, as well as 37 species of doves, has found where in Columbidae the raphines should be placed. Raphines are not the most primitive columbid, instead they are grouped with the Nicobar pigeon as their closest relative, with other closely related birds being the crowned pigeons and tooth-billed pigeon. A third raphine, Raphus solitarius, is now considered to be an ibis in the genus Threskiornis. 79af96d747 == History == 79af96d747

Red rail Rails often evolve flightlessness when adapting to isolated islands, free of mammalian predators, and that was also the case for this species. It has been compared to a kiwi or a limpkin in appearance and behaviour. The wings were small, and its legs were slender for a bird of its size. Aphanapteryx means “invisible-wing”; The red rail (Aphanapteryx bonasia) is an extinct species of rail that was endemic to the Mascarene island of Mauritius, east of Madagascar in the Indian Ocean. The red rail was a little larger than a chicken and had reddish, hairlike plumage, with dark legs and a long, curved beak. It was similar to the Rodrigues rail, but was larger, and had proportionally shorter wings. It had a close relative on Rodrigues island, the likewise extinct Rodrigues rail (Erythromachus leuati), with which it is sometimes considered congeneric, but their relationship with other rails is unclear. in the royal menagerie of Emperor Rudolph II in Prague, including a dodo and a bird he named Aphanapteryx imperialis 79af96d747

The album Individ can be seen as a resolution of this duality, combining their old acoustic sensibilities with... 79af96d747 Originating in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Marmarosa became a professional musician in his mid-teens, and toured with several major big bands, including those led by Tommy Dorsey, Gene Krupa, and Artie Shaw into the mid-1940s. He moved to Los Angeles in 1945, where he became increasingly interested and involved in the emerging bebop scene. During his time on the West Coast, he recorded in small groups with leading bebop and swing musicians, including Howard McGhee, Charlie Parker, and Lester Young, as well as leading his own bands. 79af96d747 This bird is believed to have fed on invertebrates, and snail shells have been found with damage matching an attack by its beak. The Dodos began playing music together in 2005, when musician Meric Long, who had been gigging steadily in San Francisco as a solo singer-songwriter, was introduced to Logan Kroeber through a mutual friend (a college acquaintance of Long's that happened to be Kroeber's cousin). The Dodos are a duo. One was a student of West African Ewe drumming and intricate blues fingerpicking guitar; the other hails from a background in experimental drumming and progressive metal. 79af96d747 == Plot == 79af96d747

While often impacted by many factors simultaneously, habitat loss, exploitation, and invasive species are the greatest influences on avian extinction. Island species are especially sensitive to these factors, with 95% of bird extinctions since the late 15th century being native to islands. Habitat loss has a sizable impact on birds, with deforestation in particular associated with declines in around 70% of all known avian taxa. Some birds may be more susceptible to anthropogenic activities... 79af96d747

Dodo The closest living relative of the dodo is the Nicobar pigeon. A white dodo was once thought to have existed on the nearby island of Réunion, but it is now believed that this assumption was merely confusion based on the also-extinct Réunion ibis and paintings of white dodos. The two formed the subtribe Raphina, a clade of extinct flightless birds that are a part of the group that includes pigeons and doves (the family Columbidae). The dodo's closest relative was the also-extinct and flightless Rodrigues solitaire. Subfossil remains show the dodo measured about 62.6–75 centimetres (2.05–2.46 ft) in height and may have weighed 10.6–17.5 kg (23–39 lb) in the wild. The dodo's appearance in life is evidenced only by drawings, paintings, and written accounts from the 17th century. Since these portraits vary considerably, and since only some of the illustrations are known to have been drawn from live specimens, the dodos' exact appearance in life remains unresolved, and little is known about its behaviour. It has been depicted with brownish-grey plumage... 79af96d747 == Description == 79af96d747

They inhabited the Mascarene Islands of Mauritius and Rodrigues, but became extinct through hunting by humans and predation by introduced non-native mammals following human colonisation in the 17th century. The first person to suggest a close affinity to the doves was Johannes Theodor Reinhardt, whose opinions were then supported by Hugh Edwin Strickland and Alexander Gordon Melville. The fruit of Sideroxylon grandiflorum is analogous to a peach. Each is termed a drupe because each has a hard endocarp, or pit, surrounding the seed.
