Early Egyptian medicine was based mostly on a mixture of magic and religious spells. Most commonly "cured" by use of amulets or magical spells, the illnesses were thought to be caused by spiteful behavior or actions. Afterwards, doctors performed various medical treatments if necessary. The instructions for these medical rituals were later inscribed on papyrus scrolls by the priests performing the actions. e4804eaa32 The facility is one of three adult Level I trauma centers (providing the highest level of surgical care to trauma patients) operated by Los Angeles County; the others are Ronald Reagan UCLA Medical Center and Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. e4804eaa32 The medical school was founded in 1834 by Edward Cutbush, a physician and naval surgeon who also served as the first dean of the college and professor of chemistry.
