Hospital Facilities A hospital is a healthcare institution providing patient treatment with specialized medical science and auxiliary healthcare staff and medical equipment. Common support units include a pharmacy, pathology, and radiology. A district hospital typically is the major health care facility in its region, with many beds for intensive care and additional beds for patients who need long-term care. The best-known type of hospital is the general hospital, which typically has an emergency department to treat urgent health problems ranging from fire and accident victims to a sudden illness. Some hospitals have outpatient departments and some have chronic treatment units f95ab07786

Specialized hospitals include trauma centers, rehabilitation hospitals, children's hospitals, geriatric hospitals, and hospitals for specific medical needs, such as psychiatric hospitals for psychiatric treatment and other disease-specific categories. Specialized hospitals can help reduce health care costs compared to general hospitals. Hospitals are classified as general, specialty, or government depending on the sources of income received. f95ab07786 Ishaka Adventist is a 120-bed hospital.
