5 Colours in Her Hair Written by Tom Fletcher, James Bourne, Danny Jones and Ben Sargeant, the track is well known for its "Doo, doo, doo, doo, doo, doo. " lyrics at both the beginning and the ending of the song, with the music itself being indebted to 1960s surf and beat music, and was inspired by Susan Lee, a character played by actress Emily Corrie in the TV series As If, who wore coloured dreadlocks. The CD and 7-inch formats feature a duet with Busted singing a cover of the Kinks song "Lola". Springbok colours Springbok colours is the name given to green and gold blazers awarded to members of the South Africa national rugby union team. With the arrival of South Africa's new post-apartheid government in 1994, the name Springbok was abandoned by the various control boards since they felt that the term had been abused by the previous apartheid governments, and stigmatised by the anti-apartheid movement. An exception was made in the case of the national rugby union team, who have retained the practice of awarding colours. They were historically awarded to teams and individuals representing South Africa in international competition of any sport, following their creation in 1906.
