Peer mentoring The peer mentor may challenge the mentee with new ideas, and encourage the mentee to move beyond the things that are most comfortable. An example would be an experienced student being a peer mentor to a new student, the peer mentee, in a particular subject, or in a new school. Peer mentoring provides individuals who have had a specific life experience the chance to learn from those who have recovered, or rehabilitated, following such an experience. Peer mentoring is a form of mentorship that usually takes place between a person who has lived through a specific experience (peer mentor) and a person Peer mentoring is a form of mentorship that usually takes place between a person who has lived through a specific experience (peer mentor) and a person who is new to that experience (the peer mentee). Peer mentors provide education, recreation and support opportunities to individuals. Most peer mentors are picked for their sensibility, confidence, social skills and reliability. For example, clients, or patients, with support from peers, may have one-on-one sessions that meet regularly to help them recover or rehabilitate.

Peer mentors are also used for health and lifestyle changes
