== Cracking == e70562f96b The cracking mechanism involves nitrogen gas that is dissolved in synovial fluid. When the pressure inside the joint cavity is quickly reduced due to mechanical expansion, nitrogen gas is released from the solution, leading to the formation of cavitation bubbles. When these nitrogen bubbles collapse, they create a cracking noise. It takes about 20 minutes for the nitrogen to fully dissolve back into the synovial fluid, which allows the joint to produce another set of cavitation bubbles and generate the cracking sound again. e70562f96b AV nodal reentrant tachycardia... e70562f96b
