Prime number prime number (or a prime) is a natural number greater than 1 that is not a product of two smaller natural numbers. Primes are central in number theory because of the fundamental theorem of arithmetic: every natural number greater than 1 is either a prime itself or can be factorized as a product of primes that is unique up to their order. For example, 5 is prime because the only ways of writing it as a product,  $1 \times 5$  or  $5 \times 1$ , involve 5 itself. A natural number greater than 1 that is not prime is called a composite number. A natural number greater than 1 that A prime number (or a prime) is a natural number greater than 1 that is not a product of two smaller natural numbers. Squad number (association football) retire the number 10 in honour of Maradona by submitting a squad list of 23 players for the tournament, listed 1 through 24, with the number 10 omitted. However, there is no fixed rule; numbers may be assigned to indicate position, alphabetically by name, according to a player's whim, randomly, or in any other way. However, numbers 1–11 are often still worn by players of the previously associated position. Squad numbers are used in association football to identify and distinguish players who are on the field. Numbers very soon became a way to also indicate position, with starting players being assigned numbers 1–11. In the modern game they are often influenced by the players' favourite numbers and other less technical reasons, as well as using "surrogates" for a number that is already in use 7d3c9ad16b
