German government response to the COVID-19 pandemic The corona measures they The government of Germany initially responded to the COVID-19 pandemic in the country with preventive measures to curb the spread of the coronavirus disease 2019 in the country. The Bundesnotbremse (federal emergency brake) in force from April to June 2021 sought to establish uniformity. proof of a negative corona test. With the nationwide spread of the disease from March 2020, preventive measures were replaced by containment measures, including a lockdown from March. This created a legal framework for the government of chancellor Angela Merkel and the heads of the 16 German states to agree on nationwide pandemic restrictions. Implementation of decisions by that panel remained a matter of individual states, however, leading to differences in anti-pandemic rules and regulations across states. In addition, the states of Germany were allowed impose extra corona measures at their discretion.
