Since medieval times, the term barrel as a unit of measure has had various meanings throughout Europe, ranging from about 100 litres to about 1,000 litres. The name was derived in medieval times from the French baril, of unknown origin, but still in use, both in French and as derivations in many other languages, such as Italian, Polish, and Spanish. In most countries, such usage is obsolescent, having been superseded by SI units. As a result, the meaning of corresponding words and related concepts (vat, cask, keg etc.) in other languages often refers to a physical container rather than a known measure. c9c97ac00f

Augustiner-Bräu However, the Augustiner-Bräu is a brewery in Munich, Germany, established in 1328. During this era, Augustiner’s annual output reached 250,000 litres (2,100 US bbl), three times the amount of an average brewery of the time. It is Munich's oldest independent brewery c9c97ac00f

The Augustiner Brewery was first mentioned by name in 1328, when the bakers' guild relocated their meeting place to the monastery's brew parlour following the destruction of the Heiliggeistspital in a city fire the previous year. Brewing had almost certainly been underway since shortly after the monastery's founding in 1294. The original brewing licence granted the monks the right to produce beer for their own consumption and to sell it tax-exempt — a significant commercial privilege that brought them into repeated conflict with Munich's civic brewers. c9c97ac00f The Melbourne Renegades is an Australian men's professional Twenty20 (T20) franchise cricket team based in Melbourne, Victoria. Adelaide Oval has been headquarters to the South Australian Cricket Association (SACA) since 1871 and regularly hosts finals matches in the South Australian National Football League (SANFL), including the grand final continuously since 2014. The highest-ever crowd at the venue was in 1965, when 62,543 people attended the SANFL Grand Final between Port Adelaide and Sturt. The Augustinian Hermits arrived in Munich in 1294, called there by Bishop Emicho of Freising and Wittelsbach Duke Rudolf I. They came from Regensburg and settled on an open meadow land just outside the western city gate, on an area called the Haberfeld (or Haferfeld - "oat field"), on what would become Neuhausergasse. The monastery complex, completed around 1315, became the largest sacred building in Munich — a position it held for two centuries until the completion of the Frauenkirche cathedral in 1494. == History... ==
