In modern astronomy, there are two primary conceptions of a planet. A planet can be an astronomical object that dynamically dominates its region (that is, whether it controls the fate of other smaller bodies in its vicinity) or it is defined to be in hydrostatic equilibrium (it has become gravitationally rounded and compacted). These may be characterized as the dynamical dominance definition and the geophysical definition. Animal Planet was launched on June 1, 1996; it was created... Our world is in peril. The Solar System has eight planets by the most restrictive definition of the term: the terrestrial planets Mercury, Venus, Earth, and Mars, and the giant planets Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune. Planets grow in this disk by the gradual accumulation of material driven by gravity, a process called accretion.
